Director's Message

As the leaves begin to turn, we're excited to welcome you to a vibrant fall season at the library!

September is Library Card Sign-Up Month! There's no better time to sign up for or renew your library card and take advantage of our "Show Your Library Card and Save" campaign, offering local deals all month long.

We're also proud to celebrate Welcoming Week, recognizing the strength and richness of our diverse community.

We look forward to our second annual Family History Day in the Crossroads Discovery Center and welcoming the Ignite Studio's fall Maker-in-Residence.

Whether you're exploring new programs and services or discovering books, your library card opens the door to endless possibilities. Thank you for being a part of our library community!

MY LIBRARY STORY STARTS HERE

Library Card Sign-Up Month Returns This September! Join us in celebrating all the ways the library empowers discovery, creativity, connection, and more during Library Card Sign-Up Month this September. This year's theme, "My Library Story Starts Here," shines a spotlight on the many nontraditional services available at the Hamilton East Public Library – from creative tools and business resources to tech access and spaces for play.

Throughout the month, we'll be sharing real stories from our community through videos, photos, and testimonials. Whether the library helped spark a new passion, launch a big idea, or simply provided a welcoming place to belong, these stories illustrate just how meaningful a library card can be.

Follow along and be inspired – and if you haven't already, now is the perfect time to sign up for your own library card and start your library story.

Have a story to share? We'd love to hear it! Tag us on social media @HamiltonEastPL or email us at communications@hamiltoneastpl.org.

Show Your Card And Save!

Back by popular demand, our Show Your Card and Save campaign returns this September! Sign up for or renew your library card at the Fishers or Noblesville branch, then enjoy special discounts at participating local businesses all month long – from September 1 through 30 – just by showing your library card.

It's our way of celebrating the power of a library card – and supporting our local community at the same time.

See the full list of participating businesses and discounts at hamiltoneastpl.org starting September 1st!

WEEK

WHAT IS WELCOMING WEEK?

Welcoming America is an organization that encourages U.S. cities, counties, states, and non-profit organizations to bring together immigrant and non-immigrant communities. Welcoming Week is a series of events each September when neighbors, newcomers, and long-time residents come together in a spirit of unity. These gatherings demonstrate that in places large and small, people of all backgrounds create stronger communities by building meaningful connections and affirming the benefits of welcoming everyone.

During Welcoming Week we will celebrate our vibrant, multicultural community and the ways Hamilton East Public Library's mission, vision, and guiding principles are put into practice year-round. Join us for cultural programming, guest blogs, and more during Welcoming Week. Be sure to check our events calendar and blog for more details and more featured events!

BEFORE HIGH SCHOOL

100 Books Before High School Middle Schoolers can keep reading books to win prizes throughout 6th-8th grades. Win a vinyl sticker for signing up and for every 10 books you read. When you reach 100 books, win a $10 aift card from Barnes & Noble!

500 Books Before Middle School Do you have a reader between kindergarten and 5th grade? Track their reading progress and earn prizes. Participants can earn an achievement certificate and a book plate to personalize and place in a chapter book located within our Children's Collection. Challenge completions will also come with a special library experience!

100 Books Before Graduation Finding time to read in high school can be rough. Encourage your high schoolers (grades 9-12) to keep finding reading time in their schedules so they can become lifelong learners! Win a vinyl sticker for signing up and for every 10 books you read. When you finish logging your 100th book, win a $20 Barnes & Noble gift card!

Teen Reading Challenge Want to read something but don't know what? The Teen Reading Challenge will help you add books to your finished pile! Each month, teens are challenged to read a book with a unique theme for a prize. If you skip a month (we all get busy!), you have until the end of the year to read a book with that theme. If you complete the challenge every month, you win an extra bonus prize at the end of the year! Come to the TeenZone to redeem your prizes.

Q&A

What mediums do you work in and why? I work across traditional and emerging mediums-sculp-I'm inspired by the Situationist International and their ideas about art being part of everyday life-not just someture, collage, 3D printing, and augmented reality. I'm interested in how analog and digital tools can come thing that hangs on a wall. I'm drawn to artists and movetogether to empower creativity and storytelling. My work ments that blur the lines between art, activism, and public often explores identity, technology, and the future, and I engagement. I also admire contemporary artists who mix love showing others that anyone can be a maker. mediums and use technology in unexpected ways to tell stories or invite participation.

What is your favorite art tool/supply?

I'm a big fan of tools that make creativity more accessible. I love combining analog materials like polymer clay, paint, and collage with digital tools like 3D modeling and augmented reality. These tools open the door for people of all skill levels to customize, create, and experiment.

Who are some of your favorite artists?

What kinds of things will you be doing during your residency in Ignite?

During my residency at Ignite, the emphasis will be on playful exploration, where participants are encouraged to mix traditional and new materials in creative ways. I want to ensure that everyone, regardless of experience, feels empowered to dive into the world of art and technology, and to see how combining different mediums can lead to unexpected and exciting outcomes.

SEED TO TABLE

– Making the Most of Your Harvest –

As the days grow shorter and the air turns crisp, gardens across the region burst with the final abundance of the season. Harvest time isn't just about picking produce – it's about celebrating the journey from planting the first seed to enjoying the fruits of your labor. We caught up with Kathy, our community's beloved librarian of over 30 years, who gave us a glimpse into her own gardening journey this year. Below, explore how to make the most of your garden's bounty with fresh recipes, gardening programs at the library, and guidance on how our Seed Library can help you plan for next year's growth. Whether you're a seasoned gardener or a first-time grower, it's time to savor the season and prepare for what's to come.

ello Fellow Gardeners -You might remember me and my garden. I was a librarian at HEPL and shared gardening tips as well as helped with the Seed Library. I retired last summer and have now had plenty of time to get my garden in perfect order. The surprise is that it isn't!

This morning, while sipping coffee, I made a list of the 24 things I would like to get done in the garden. Among them is the need to plant the 36 flowers I started through winter sowing last year. I should mention, while you are reading this in the fall, I wrote this in June, so I am not as far behind as it sounds.

I don't write this as a warning that gardening is too much work, but Yesterday, I was at the Fishers Library restocking the Seed Library. If the number of seeds they have given out is any indication, you all are loving it! I am loving it too. Yesterday I took home a package of Roma Bush beans. We love beans, and I have room to plant one more row. I decided this year to try to grow more of what we love and less of what we don't love as much.

I am still searching for a way to grow zucchini without using pesticides. I've tried companion planting of daikon radishes, aluminum foil delaying planting, and lots of other potential solutions.

I recently read in Grow Great Vegetables in Indiana by Bevin Cohen, that healthy plants will do better at resisting pests. I am going to do as he says and consistently water, give them each a good dose of compost, allow plenty of space and hope for the best. (and try to remove any bugs l see!)

rather that gardening is a constant source of pleasure. And exercise! I don't think anyone will ever say, "I wish I could spend more time doing laundry and cleaning bathrooms," but I think most of us would like more time in nature, enjoying our beautiful world.

While at the library, I also took home some Marigold seeds from the donated seeds. It's hard to believe but some of your plants might already have seeds that can be collected and donated to the Seed Library. I like to donate, as the Seed Library can't have everything, and I can save seeds from plants I have that the Seed Library doesn't have.

Two years ago someone donated perennial Sweet William to the Seed Library, and I started it through winter sowing. It has been magnificent! Thank you to whoever donated the Sweet William and know that I'll be donating seeds this fall from them as well.

I hope you all had a great summer and you had great garden experiences. Crunching your way through the first sugar snap pea of the season, enjoying a lovely tomato with basil and mozzarella, making bouquets with your flowers > for special events, and just enjoying the fruits of your labors.

Of course, it didn't all go perfectly, or at least my garden doesn't, but that is part of the challenge and joy of gardening. Always something to look forward to.

Thank you for being library users, and Happy Gardening to you!
